Gateway president begins term as president for national group

KENOSHA – Gateway President Bryan Albrecht has begun his tenure as president of the Association for Career and Technical Education (ACTE).

Albrecht will oversee the national organization, direct it in its mission and become its chief representative. His term is to last one year.

“I am proud to serve our profession in this way,” said Albrecht. “Representing career and technical education as the president of ACTE will allow me to share our success at Gateway and learn from others throughout the nation.”

Albrecht will continue to serve a leadership role with ACTE following his term as president, in a role as its past president position for a year. Albrecht also served on the executive committee the year prior as president-elect. Albrecht served on the board as the Region III representative from 2003-06.

The Association for Career and Technical Education is the nation’s largest not-for-profit education association dedicated to the advancement of education that prepares youth and adults for successful careers. It provides advocacy, public awareness and access to information, professional development and tools that enable members to be successful and effective leaders. ACTE has more than 30,000 members.

Gateway Technical College collaborates with communities in Kenosha, Racine and Walworth counties to ensure economic growth and viability by providing education, training, leadership and technological resources to meet the challenging needs of students, employers and communities.
